SUPREME COURT ISSUES A RESTRAINING DECREE

Incoming Commissioners Confronted Attorney General Declares They Wanted to Leave Because of Anti-Trust Laws.

> filed by the fire insurance companies. supreme court issued a restraining order forbidding them, temporarily, to cease writing policies.

The decision allows the companies to file an answer to the quo warranto proceedings of the attorney general who asked that they be fined for combining to withdraw from the state. After the answer is filed the court will appoint a commissioner to take testimony. mediately converted into motor vehicles

Their Agreement in Question. Judge Woodson, who wrote the opinion, made clear therein that the attorthe fire insurance companies individually from leaving the state, but that he sought to prevent them leaving in a body by agreement. On this point the court held that the companies "had no legal right by agreement to withdraw from the state in a body in pursuance to said unlawful agreement or to cancel their policies upon property in this state in pursuance to said agreement. The injunction restraining the companies from canceling present policies is effective pending disposition of the quo warranto suit of the attorney general to fine the companies for combining to leave the state. The court held that the Oliver rating law of two years ago did not repeal the anti-trust laws of the state and that Both Mr. Newman and Mr. Siddons, such laws were enforced before the passage of the Orr law, to which the comto them, as neither has been connected the companies objected makes the use with the local government.
